Bv Scott Locorini

I would like to thank all the board members who continue to work diligently in the interest of NYSOGA. It has been a trying time through Covid but we have held the organization together and even made some very positive changes.

As all-volunteer an association, it takes us a little longer to make changes that other organizations with paid employees would make faster. But we do as much as we can as quickly as we can while running our own businesses and managing daily lives. We do have many irons in the fire, including more website updates, additional virtual training opportunities, expanding member benefits, implementing our mentoring program and so much more. What we currently lack is time and member involvement. With winter coming and, hopefully, some spare time for you, please consider volunteering to help out. Feel free to reach directly out to me anytime.

The biggest recent accomplishment is offering Water Safety for Guides virtually. Sonny Young (Training and Education Team Leader) has put a lot of time and effort into this and we greatly appreciate it. WSFG classes are one of the biggest income producers for our organization and provide a great service to the guiding community as well.

Other news of note is the retirement of Colleen Kavser from the Licensed Guide Office. We have worked closely with her during her time in the office and

By Michael Newell

President Scott Locorini

There have been several changes at the DEC in the administration of the Guides Program this year and more changes coming. In late September, Colleen Keyser, who has been the Administrator of the program for many years, retired. Colleen was very supportive of NYSOGA, and we will miss her. With Colleen's retirement, the administration of the program was moved from the Department of Forestry group which, oversees the Rangers, to the Special Licenses Group. Mary Greagan is the new administrator, assisted by Teresa Ruiz. NYSOGA Board members have had several meetings with the two, who are new to the guides program but very experienced in the Special Licenses Group.

Another change that is coming is that in early 2022, the Guides Exam will become an online exam, with one written exam to be given at NYSOGA's Winter Rendezvous each year. Mary has written other online exams and has begun the process of writing the current online Guides Exam. In her experience with other DEC online exams there are many ways to protect the integrity of the online exam and they will be incorporated into the new Guides Exam.

In early 2021, an ad hoc NYSOGA committee worked with the previous coordinator, Colleen Keyser. to update and rewrite the General Exam, as well as the exams for Hunting, Fishing, Hiking, Camping, and Boats and Canoes. One of the objectives in rewriting the exams was to have more balanced questions across all the subject areas where knowledge is required in the exams. It was also important for DEC that Leave No Trace questions be incorporated. The number of questions in the general exam was also increased and a new Syllabus and Study Guide provided. Mary will be using the updated exams provided by NYSOGA as the basis for the new online exams.

Both Mary and Joe Therrien, Director of the Special Licenses Group, will be joining us at the Winter Rendezvous.

By Sheila Young

NYSOGA's Winter Rendezvous is a formal gathering of licensed and aspiring guides. Winter Rendezvous provides Water Safety for prospective guides (Thursday) and First Aid and CPR (Friday) for aspiring and licensed guides. NYSOGA's annual members' meeting and election of the new board of directors is held on Saturday afternoon. The Saturday night annual banquet with award presentations and evening socializing and fun follows. All Rendezvous attendees and their guests are welcomed at the banquet and evening activities. As with Summer Rendezvous, there is time for enjoying camaraderie with like-minded folks. Registration will open on December 1, 2021.

Plans for Kids to Camp in 2022

By Craig Tryon Kids to Camp Team Leader

In 2022 the NYS Department of Environmental Conservation [NYSDEC] Environmental Education Summer Camp Program will be celebrating its 75th year in operation. DEC is very excited to celebrate this important milestone for this program. They are working hard to develop guidelines to ensure both camp staff and campers can have a safe camp experience in 2022. NYSOGA members were informed that the camps were closed for the 2020 and 2021 season due to the Covid pandemic. To date NYSOGA, as a camper sponsor, has NOT been notified camps will be open in 2022. However, wording on the Environmental Education Summer Camp Program website reads very positively. NYSOGA is also excited to be able to sponsor our campers again this year to this program. We all should have our fingers crossed that this will happen in 2022.

Our Kids to Camp Program is an opportunity for NYSOGA to sponsor two camperships for youth 12 to 17 years old to one of the NYSDEC Environmental Education Summer Camps. As a NYSOGA guide, I look to you to identify and sponsor potential campers from your area for our Kids to Camp Program. You can begin to identify your camper to sponsor now.

Our NYSOGA Kids to Camp Program and a link to NYSDEC Camp information are located on our NYSOGA.org website under "Programs – Kids to Camp Program." There is a link in this information to take you to the NYSDEC Environmental Education website for specifics about the NYSDEC Camp program. On the "Camp Information" heading scroll down to "More About Summer Camps"; click on "How to Register for Camp"; in second paragraph down from top is a link to their "Document Center" camp registration information are located here. To begin the sponsorship process, get your potential camper familiar with the NYSDEC Camp Program. If they are interested, work with them to complete and submit the NYSOGA Kids to Camp Sponsorship application. NYSOGA sponsorship information and form can be found on our NYSOGA website at the bottom of the Home Page - Members Only - Policies - Section 6 - Policy 3 Kids to Camp Program. The form you will use to submit the camper you are sponsoring is found here and can be downloaded. Submit both their completed NYSOGA sponsorship application and essay "Why I Want to Attend a DEC Environmental Education Summer Camp" by the submission deadline. The Kids to Camp Team will make sponsorship selections and inform you and your sponsored camper of their sponsorship decision.

To ensure campers get the dates and camp of their choice, it is imperative for a camper to register on the first day DEC begins taking registrations. For the 2022 camp season this date isn't known yet. This date has usually been the 3rd week in January. The NYSOGA Kids to Camp Team needs you to ensure completed camper sponsorship applications and essays are received no later than January 2, 2022. This date gives the team time to process

Award Suggestions Needed By Mary Hall

NYSOGA's awards committee is looking for suggestions for possible awards this year. Please be thinking about individuals you would like to nominate for Life Membership, Camp Lantern, Packbasket, Camp Spoon, Honorary Member, Friend of NYSOGA or if you have a suggestion for a new award you would like to see considered.

The nominations for Life Member must be received by the awards committee prior to the January Board of Directors meeting in order for the Board to vote on this award as per our bylaws and policies. These awards are typically presented at Winter Rendezvous during our annual banquet. The past couple years, this has not been the case due to Covid cancelling the Rendezvous. We are hoping to get back to our normal format this year.

Any suggestions or nominations should be forwarded to Awards Chair Mary Hall at maryphall71@gmail.com.

It's been a busy fall of guiding (mostly hiking and camping in my case) which, hopefully, will continue into the winter.

Outdoor goods are still relatively scarce due to the widely reported supply chain problems as well as the continuance of the increase in popularity of outdoor activity that coincided with the pandemic. I recently did an online search for a high-end winter sleeping bag and found that the best priced retailer (of those that claimed to have them in stock) was about $140 over the MSRP. This is not a good year for acquiring gear at discount.

Local legislators have recently been calling on the state to move ahead with the expansion of the 750-mile Empire State Trail across Long Island. The extension has been talked about for some time but so far, it's just talk. The 175-mile-long extension featuring "off-road" sections linked by lengthy "on-road" sections has an estimated price tag of $114 million. The Bipartisan Infrastructure Bill passed in Congress includes $106 million dedicated to improving water quality, protecting habitat and preserving the recreational and fishing industries on Long Island Sound. Projects and spending will be managed by the EPA's existing Long Island Sound program.

EHD (Epizootic hemorrhagic disease) has affected some deer in Suffolk County. While it is usually fatal, the numbers don't appear to have been high. Now that we've had killing frosts and freezing temperatures in most areas, the biting midges that are the sole vector for the disease and it should be done for the season.

For the Region 1 (Suffolk County) January firearms deer hunting season, a daily permit is required to hunt DEC managed lands. The permits are awarded via a drawing to be held on Tuesday December 7. The deadline for the drawing is December 6. The DEC is now requiring the submission of an online registration form to be entered in the drawing. The form and more details about the process are at this web address: https://survey123.arcgis.com/share/dbdbb65ab14b43a6807757c080182708.

The Suffolk County firearms season this year extends from January 2 – January 31.

winter. While we're storing our canoes we should be doing our repairs and making sure all our gear is stowed away in good condition for next year. On my paddles and most of the wood on my canoes I like to use a 50/50 mixture a boiled linseed oil and turpentine. The turpentine acts as a drying agent and allows the linseed oil to dry faster.

We had a slow start to the migration of Canada geese here in lower Hudson Valley as the temperatures were slightly above normal so far this fall. However, they seem to be flying quite well now.

Upland bird season has begun along with waterfowl and bow season for the elusive whitetail in the Southern zone. The days are finally cooler in the mornings to get them moving. We had a low of 23 two nights before the writing of this! The colors were somewhat lackluster but they still made for pleasant hikes, and late fall paddles.

For anyone that doesn't know: The colors of Autumn can help you identify the trees in your area. Brown are usually Oaks and Beaches, Red, Yellow, and Orange are Maples, some Oaks, Ash, Birches and more. Get out enjoy the color that's left!

Another tip for you on wood to be used for campfires and winter hikes along your favorite trail or camping would be to buck your logs ahead of time and stand them up against a tree to help them dry and keep them off the ground. This way, they won't be covered with a blanket of snow and you can find them easily to be cut and used for your fuel. In between everything else in fall, I like to use the time to prep my winter gear, check my snowshoe bindings, make any adjustments that they may need, re varnish any traditional snowshoes I have and perform general maintenance. I also prepared my vehicle for the winter adding extra blankets, warm clothes, tow straps and flares, restock first aid items, and other items useful while traveling.

The hiking in the Catskills seemed to be right on track to normalcy - I heard of no problems except maybe parking issues. The Rangers handled 2 Wilderness rescues in Greene County & 1 in Ulster County without further incidents. So, in closing to all: check your gear, make repairs or replace, know before you go, stay safe and enjoy the outdoors because it's for everyone.

This allows year-round trout fishing. This new law does not apply to trout ponds or to tributaries of the Great Lakes, Finger Lakes or Lake Champlain.

Advice from "Dr. Guide" How Sweet it Is - Tips for Hiking Safely with Diabetes

By NYSOGA Member Tom Welch, M.D.

Reprinted from the September/October issue of ADIRONDAC, the magazine of the Adirondack Mountain Club. Guidelines appreciates receiving permission from the magazine and Dr. Welch to reprint it here. The basic defect in diabetes is in body's ability to utilize glucose as a source of energy. This results in a rise in blood glucose ("sugar") levels. The defect is caused by a decrease in either the ability of the pancreas to produce insulin (the hormone central for the use of glucose as a fuel) or the body's ability to utilize insulin. The former is "type 1 diabetes; the latter is "type 2. Type 1 diabetes requires the use of injectable insulin and most often develops in children and adolescents; type 2 (far more common) typically develops in adults and is usually managed with diet and medication other than insulin. While the prevalence of both types is increasing, this is especially the case for type 2 disease. Rising obesity levels are a major cause of this.

A few issues that are important to any hiker or camper are particularly important for people with diabetes. Suboptimal control of the disease may make one more susceptible to poor healing, especially of foot wounds. Blister prevention and early treatment are important in every hiker, but particularly so in those with diabetes. Careful meal-planning is critical in managing diabetes, and the increased caloric needs of backpacking need to be factored into this.

The treatment of diabetes renders many patients susceptible to episodes of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar). Hypoglycemia can be dangerous if not treated immediately, and the treatment commonly is the administration of some form of oral sugar (although some non-sugar drug alternatives are now available).

While the principles of bear avoidance require the removal the removal of such items from one's tent, I would make an exception for patients with diabetes. One simply cannot be exiting the tent and rooting around in the bear-resistant food container in the middle of the night to secure emergency hypoglycemia treatment!

For decades, I taught wilderness medicine students that wilderness expeditions, even overnight camping, were not feasible for folks with type 1 diabetes. The logistics of storing insulin, regular blood testing, and responding to dramatic changes in diet and energy expenditure were simply too complex for much beyond a brief overnight trip. Happily, recent developments have proven me very wrong. Individuals with type 1 diabetes regularly compete at high levels in such strenuous activities as triathlons and ultramarathons. A few people with diabetes have even successfully summitted Mt. Everest. Extended trips in austere environments are no longer out of the question.

Much of this change has resulted from major technologic achievements, including programmable insulin pumps, continuous glucose monitors, and easily transportable cold storage units. That being said, the logistics involved in such treks are daunting, not least because the energy requirements of backpacking may increase daily calorie needs by a factor of three or more, necessitating major changes in insulin dosing.

Such treks require careful planning with a diabetes specialist who is familiar with the demands of adventure travel. Such an individual may be difficult to find, although major diabetes centers can probably help locate an appropriate specialist. It will also be important to have a companion along who is familiar enough with diabetes to be of assistance in emergencies. The following grace was written by Don Williams, a retired school principal and charter president of the NYS Outdoor Guides Association. The NYSOGA annual banquet is opened by the asking of this blessing each year.

Slow us down, Lord.

Ease the pounding of our hearts by the quieting of our minds.

Give us, amid the confusion of the day, the calmness of the everlasting hills.

Break the tensions of our nerves and muscles with the soothing music of the singing streams that live in our memories.

Help us to know the magical restoring power of sleep.

Teach us the art of taking minute vacations – Of slowing down to look at a flower.

To chat with a friend.

To pat a dog.

To read a few lines from a good book.

Slow us down, Lord, and inspire us to send our roots deep into the soil of life's enduring values that we may grow toward the stars of our greater destiny.

Amen

"With an ignorant guide you will starve; with a lazy one you will lose your temper, with a low-bred one you can have no peace. A good guide, like a good spouse, is indispensable to one's success, pleasure and peace." — From Adventures in the Wilderness by William H.H. Murray
